DORDA BRUGGER JORDIS advises Invest Equity on the sale of Chemson

Andreas Zahradnik, private equity expert and partner at DORDA BRUGGER JORDIS, advised Invest Equity on the sale Chemson Polymer Additive AG. Chemson is an internationally leading manufacturer of polymer additives with a global turnover amounting to nearly EUR 300 million.

In 2000, Chemson had been acquired by INVEST EQUITY, a leading private equity management firm, together with the Swiss private equity fund Leman Capital. A sophisticated investment programme pushed the company to a new level. Having realised these measures successfully, Chemson was now sold in a tender process carried out by Close Brothers, Frankfurt, with legal advice from DORDA BRUGGER JORDIS. The buyer was the private equity company Buy-Out Central Europe, which is focussed on medium-sized companies. Both parties have agreed not to discuss details of the purchase price.

Invest Equity is a Vienna-based private equity and venture capital management company concentrating on mid-market companies. Currently, INVEST EQUITY has three funds under management and has raised funds amounting to EUR 110 million.
