FOREWORD

James Wood, The Legal 500

The Legal 500 is delighted to welcome you to our inaugural GC Summit Thailand 2019. With around 80 of the country's leading in-house lawyers joining us today, the event reflects the growing significance of the in-house legal function to businesses both in Thailand and across the wider South East Asia region.

Today's conference draws heavily on the practical, hands-on experiences of GCs and private practice advisers. We have asked our speakers to think long and hard about how lawyers can

Benjamin Hirasawa, Clyde & Co

I am truly honoured to welcome you to The Legal 500's GC Summit Thailand. Clyde & Co is privileged to play a part in supporting this prestigious event. Thank you to The Legal 500 and the steering committee comprising highly experienced local and regional general counsel who have made time in busy schedules to ensure that today's summit will be valuable for all those attending.

The panel sessions today feature some of the highest profile and most experienced general counsel operating in Thailand and the Asia-Pacific region. They will be sharing their views on the role of the general counsel and senior in-house advisors, which is in a constant state of change and expansion.

In the first panel session, my colleague Sapna Jhangiani is joined by Jesse Lieberman (vice president, legal at Minor Hotels), Supaporn Kookai Wonganan (corporate secretary for Wind Energy Holding Company), and Jasreen Singh (group general counsel at dwp) to discuss dispute resolution mechanisms and share best practice when handling regional and international disputes.

Regardless of our roles, data privacy and protection is likely keeping all of us up at night to some degree. So I look forward to hearing where the second panel takes us as the speakers navigate the challenges of conforming to the recently-passed Thailand Personal add value to business in a range of contexts, whether overseeing a transformational deal, handling a bet-the-company dispute, navigating a regulatory and competition enquiry or ensuring data protection systems and policies are fit for purpose.

We were fortunate to have received the support and opinions of our speakers in the run-up to this conference. Their views are reflected in the sessions we will enjoy throughout the day. We also benefited from the support and insight provided to us by some of the leading law firms active in the region. We would like to thank headline sponsor Clyde & Co, and co-sponsors Tilleke & Gibbins and Thanathip & Partners.

The Legal 500 will continue to work on new and innovative ways of bringing GCs and their advisers together. If you have any suggestions for how we might make next year's conference even better then please do let us know.

We hope you enjoy the conference.

Data Protection Act. Athistha (Nop) Chitranukroh, joint head of Tilleke & Gibbins' technology industry group, will lead a discussion with some of the foremost experts on this especially hot topic.

The expansion of Thai business nationally and globally, increased investment from private equity funds, and strategic corporates seeking new markets and value have all helped push Thailand's M&A markets to new highs. As such, I am delighted that we'll be devoting the second half of the programme to this exciting topic.

First, I will be leading a panel on cross-border M&A dynamics with a group of panellists who have very recent and relevant experience in this sphere: Jirasak Latada (head of strategic planning and overseas legal support at Siam Cement), Vincent Siaw (executive vice president for legal and international projects and chief legal officer at Thoresen Thai Agencies), Florence Lomaglio (group healthcare and consumer goods lead counsel at DKSH) and Rachael Bewsey (chief counsel of Asia operations at Ophir-Energy). Following this panel, Thanathip Pichedvanichok of Thanathip & Partners will lead a presentation that looks at Thailand's Competition Act and how business can stay ahead of it in the context of M&A.

This exciting programme will no doubt be supplemented by more intimate discussions over drinks. So, I look forward to speaking with you during the cocktail reception and discussing the key issues facing in-house counsel in Thailand. I am grateful to The Legal 500 for hosting this summit and to our cosponsors, moderators and speakers for supporting the event.

I hope you enjoy the afternoon's events and, most importantly, I hope that you leave with something of value that you can put to use in your day to day role.
